

What was a time that a friend helped you in a time of need?

What about a time you helped out a friend?

If you could give your best friend anything to show how awesome they are, what would you give them?

What is something about you that makes you a good friend?
What's one way you think you could become an even better friend?

You see a kid being bullied at school. What's the first thing you do?

You have a friend sleeping over who is afraid of the dark. How do you help them feel less scared?

If dogs and cats could talk to each other, what do you think they'd talk about? Do you think they'd get along better if they could understand each other?

If you had the chance to switch places for a day with anyone you know, who would you pick and why?

Sometimes siblings or friends get into arguments. What do you think is the best way to resolve an argument?

Who is the happiest person you know?
How can you tell that they're happy?

If you could build a giant maze for your friends, what would you use to build it?
What would be at the end?

Think about your best friend. What career do you think they would be really good at when they grow up and why?

What is something that some people do that gets on your nerves? Do you have any habits that you think might be annoying to other people?

How can you tell someone you disagree with them without hurting their feelings?

Imagine someone who's the total opposite of you in every way. What could you two do together? What could you talk about?

Which is better, the beach or the mountains? How do you think you could persuade someone who disagrees with you to change their mind?

Think of a food that you really don't like. What are some reasons other people might like that food?

Imagine your softball team just lost a really big game. What do you think would make you and your teammates feel better afterward?

If someone was making fun of you, how would that make you feel? What would you say to them to stand up for yourself?

You're on a team designing a new road sign to prevent drivers from getting road rage. What would it look like?

What are some things that you are really afraid of? What does your body feel like when you get scared?

What's the best compliment you've ever gotten? What was the last compliment you gave someone?
Bonus: compliment someone who's with you right now!

What would you do if you overheard a good friend telling a lie? Do you think it's ever ok to lie?

Do you think it's more important to be smart or to be kind? Why?

What would you do if your parent made a super special meal just for you, but you really don't like it?

If you could make everyone on Earth the same height, would you do it? Why or why not?

Imagine your friend is going through a really hard time in their life. What are three things you can do to help cheer them up?

What was a time you or someone close to you did something heroic? How did it feel?

How many different ways can you say "I love you"? You might think of different ways your family expresses love for each other, or even how people say "I love you" in other languages!

What was the last gift you received? How do you show your gratitude when you get a present?

Would you ever cheat on a test if you knew you wouldn't get caught? Why or why not?

Think about the last new friend you made. How did you meet them? What are some other ways you can make new friends?

On a typical day, how much of your time do think you spend worrying about things?

When you think about the other people in your life, do you mostly get along with them, or do you have trouble getting along with them?

Do you think it's important to always tell the truth, even if it hurts someone's feelings? Why, or why not?

Imagine a close friend came out to you as queer. How would you respond to them?

What are some ways you show appreciation for your family?